Growth and Development Review 2017

Committee of the Whole recommends:

1. Receipt of the presentation by Paul Bottomley, Manager, Policy, Research and Forecasting.
 2. Adoption of the following recommendation contained in the report dated April 27, 2018 from the Commissioner of Corporate Services and Chief Planner:
 1. The Growth and Development Review 2017 be circulated by the Regional Clerk to the local municipalities for information.

Report dated April 27, 2018 from the Commissioner of Corporate Services and Chief Planner now follows:

1. Recommendation

It is recommended that:

1. The Growth and Development Review 2017 be circulated by the Regional Clerk to the local municipalities for information.

2. Purpose

The purpose of the Growth and Development Review, 2017 (Attachment 1) is to provide Council with key development and population indicators in York Region and report on the competitiveness of York Region's economy within the Greater Toronto and Hamilton Area (GTHA), the Province and Canada.

3. Background and Previous Council Direction

Annual Growth and Development Review report provides a broad perspective on important economic indicators

Since 1995, York Region has published a Growth and Development Review report each year. The report highlights a number of key economic indicators which illustrate general trends in the economy. The 2017 report includes information on:

- Economic outlook
- Population growth
- Residential market and building activity
- Industrial, Commercial and Institutional (ICI) market and building activity, and
- Overall construction value

Data for this review is sourced from Statistics Canada, the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation, the Toronto Real Estate Board and private firms which publish documents summarizing key trends within the GTHA and beyond. A thorough understanding of this information provides background for effective policy development, York Region Official Plan monitoring, and economic strategy initiatives.

4. Analysis and Implications

A strong U.S. economy benefits York Region businesses

In 2017 the Global economy recorded GDP growth of 3.7% compared to 3.2% in 2016. According to the International Monetary Fund (IMF), activity is projected to pick up pace in 2018, with Global GDP expected to rise to 3.9% and U.S. GDP anticipated to increase to 2.7% from 2.3% in 2017. Recent U.S. federal tax policy changes aimed at reducing personal and business income taxes are expected to stimulate economic activity leading to the increase in U.S. GDP.

Canada recorded GDP growth of 3% in 2017, the fastest growth rate in G7 economies. The IMF forecast for Canada is slower growth in 2018 of 2.3% and 2.0% in 2019, due to concerns regarding NAFTA negotiations and U.S. protectionism, eroding competitiveness given U.S. tax cuts, softening housing markets and higher interest rates.

York Region's economy is closely related to U.S. GDP growth, as there is a strong trade relationship between Canada and the United States and the Region is a key recipient of U.S. foreign direct investment. York Region businesses export an average of $4 billion worth of goods and services annually and Regional businesses directly benefit from increased trade activity. The U.S. has recorded a ninth consecutive year of GDP growth and confidence in the U.S. economy can increase demand for Canadian goods such as raw building materials and manufactured products and a lower Canadian dollar promotes exports with the U.S. (Figure 1).

Figure 1
10 Year Canadian Dollar (Daily Rate in U.S. Cents)
2008 - 2018

The Bank of Canada (BoC) has increased interest rates by three basis points during the past year to 1.25% and interest rates are expected to continue to remain low in 2018, by historical standards. The BoC Governor has indicated there may be an additional rate increase by year end 2018.

York Region's economy continues to create jobs, with total employment increasing steadily by approximately 3% annually over the past five years. As reported in the York Region Employment and Industry report to Council on February 8, 2018, from 2016 to 2017, there were approximately 19,780 jobs added for an estimated total of 620,530 jobs in York Region.

York Region's activity rate has been increasing since 2010

The activity rate is the ratio of total employment to total population which is different from the live work ratio that measures the percent of York Region's labour force that both live and work in the Region, as reported out in the York Region Official Plan Monitoring Report. One of the objectives of the Regional Official Plan is to create high-quality employment opportunities for residents, with a goal of 1 job for every 2 residents. Balanced growth in both population and employment contributes to a high standard and quality of life. An activity rate of 50% or a 2:1 ratio is consistent with the Regional Official Plan target. York Region's activity rate has been increasing since 2010, as shown on Figure 2, and is currently 51.9%.

York Region Activity Rate
2008 - 2017

York Region's population grew by 19,600 in 2017, accounting for 15% of GTHA growth

It is estimated that York Region's population grew by 19,600 (1.7%) in 2017 to 1,206,500 people. The Growth Plan includes a forecasted population target of 1,590,000 in 2031 (mid-year). The Region was below forecast for 2017 by 28,000 people. Annual growth of 27,700 is required to reach the 2031 Growth Plan forecast. The Region's population estimate has not been adjusted to reflect the recent 2016 Census results. Staff will review the population figures once the undercount figure is released by Statistics Canada later in 2018. An undercount that typically ranges between 3% and 4% accounts for people missed during the Census.

All municipalities within York Region experienced growth in 2017. Vaughan, Aurora and Markham recorded the greatest increases in population of approximately 5,000, 3,400 and 2,800 respectively (Figure 3). East Gwillimbury experienced the highest rate of growth in York Region for 2017 at 6.7%.

Figure 3
York Region 2017 Population Increase and Percentage
Rate of Growth by Local Municipality

York Region's growth of 19,600 people represented a 14.8% share of GTHA growth in 2017 (Figure 4), which decreased from its 2016 share of 16.2%. The population growth shares for the 905 area either decreased or remained the same, while the City of Toronto's strong population growth continued with a share of 40.8% and 12,118 apartment completions recorded in 2017. York Region's share of the total GTHA population is approximately 16%.

2015 - 2017

Average housing prices for all resale units in York Region in 2017 exceeded $1 million for the first time

The residential resale housing market continues to be active within York Region. In 2017, there were 15,050 resale units sold, a decrease of 32% from 2016.

Housing prices across the GTHA continue to rise. In York Region, the average cost of a resale residential unit (all dwelling types) in 2017 was $1,061,271 (Table 1) while a resale single detached unit increased by 13.5% to $1,326,113 compared to $1,167,889 in 2016. York Region's average resale housing price (all dwelling types) is almost 29% higher than the Greater Toronto Area average of $822,681 (GTHA data not available). The first two months of 2018 have seen a slower start to sales and price growth in York Region with the overall average price dropping to $885,864 and 1,398 sales recorded to February 2018 compared to 2,523 sales by February 2017.

According to the Toronto Real Estate Board, the annual growth in average prices was driven by low listings during the first four months of the year. In the latter two-thirds of 2017, fewer sales combined with increased listings resulted in slower price growth. Home price growth in the second half of 2017 differed substantially depending on market segment.

The detached market segment – the most expensive on average – experienced the slowest pace of growth as many buyers looked to less expensive options. As a result, the condominium apartment segment experienced double-digit growth, as condominium sales accounted for a growing share of transactions.

Lower residential building permits and housing completions were recorded in 2017

Trends in new housing activity can be assessed by looking at building permit activity and housing completions. Building permits show construction underway (or soon to be underway), while housing completions provide a record of units recently occupied, or ready to be occupied.

Across the GTHA, total building permits issued were down by 5.2% in 2017. In York Region, residential building permits were issued for 6,048 dwelling units in 2017, representing a 43% decrease from the 2016 total of 10,597 units. The decrease was represented across all unit types, but was most significant in apartments, where there were 3,292 units in 2016 compared to 859 in 2017.

There are more fluctuations in the apartment market from year to year compared to the ground related market, which impacts the total number of building permits issued annually. In 2017 there were 5,189 building permits issued for ground related units in York Region, whereas since 2008 the average number of permits issued was 6,060 (Figure 5). In 2017, there were only 859 apartment units with permits issued, well below the average of 2,245 during the last 10 years.

York Region Residential Building Permits by Unit Type
2008 - 2017

Vaughan, Richmond Hill and Markham accounted for approximately 62% of the total residential building permit activity in 2017 with 36%, 14% and 12% respectively.

The number of building permits issued in Whitchurch-Stouffville and Newmarket increased from 2016 levels by 261% and 145% respectively. The large increase in Whitchurch-Stouffville was due to a low number in 2016 and an increase in apartment units. In 2017, the number of building permits issued in all other municipalities decreased from 2016 levels.

Although housing completions in the Region decreased in 2017 by 15.5% to 6,535 (Figure 6) from the 2016 number of 7,738, York Region continues to be a strong contributor to GTHA development activity accounting for a 16% share of 2017 GTHA residential building permit activity (Figure 7), second only to the City of Toronto.

Figure 6
York Region Residential Building Permits and Housing Completions
2008 - 2017

Figure 7
2017 GTHA Residential Building Permit Activity: Shares by Municipality

The 2017 breakdown of new residential building permits issued in York Region was 44% single-detached, 4% semi-detached, 38% row and 14% apartment units. York Region's housing mix for all unit types continues to diversify as the proportion of apartment unit dwellings has increased from 12% in 2001 to 14% in 2017, and is forecast to be 19% in 2031 (Figure 8).

Figure 8
Mix in Housing Stock in York Region
2001 - 2031

Residential development activity is projected to remain strong

As outlined in the 2017 Development Activity Summary report to Council on April 12, 2018, registration of plans of subdivision and plans of condominium for 2017 has remained strong. In total, 60 plans of subdivision and condominium were issued clearances for registration, for a total of 6,697 residential units in 2017, of which 1,165 (17.4%) are apartment units. As of December 31, 2017, regional staff estimate that there are over 40,000 dwelling units of all types that are registered unbuilt and draft approved. Therefore, it is anticipated that building permit and housing completion activity will remain strong over the next few years.

Total Industrial, Commercial and Institutional construction values increased by over 47% in 2017 to the highest level ever recorded

The total Industrial, Commercial, and Institutional (ICI) construction value for 2017 was $1.44 billion. This is well above the average ICI value of the last five years (Figure 9). Vaughan's share of ICI construction accounted for over 70% of the total value in 2017.

York Region Industrial, Commercial and Institutional
Construction Values 2013 - 2017

A high-value building permit can result in large annual fluctuations in ICI building permit values. Notable ICI projects for which building permits were issued in 2017 and contributed to the strong overall ICI permit values included the $559 million Mackenzie Vaughan Hospital in Vaughan, a permit for an industrial complex in Vaughan's Glen-Huntington Business Park issued for $29 million, and a $28 million permit for an addition to the Upper Canada Mall in Newmarket.

Within the GTHA, York Region accounted for over 16% of the total ICI construction values for 2017 (Figure 10). Overall, the GTHA recorded a 30% increase in the value of ICI construction from 2016. Only Halton Region recorded a small decrease in total ICI construction, while the remaining GTHA regional municipalities and the City of Toronto experienced increases.

GTHA Industrial, Commercial and Institutional
Construction Values 2013 - 2017

As investment in new ICI development has occurred, so have employment opportunities within the Region. York Region’s employment growth once again outpaced provincial (1.8%) and national (2.1%) averages in 2017, posting a gain of 3.3%.

York Region’s economic activity and population growth continues to be a significant contributor to the provincial and national economies

York Region ranked 6th in 2017 for the value of ICI construction across Canada, an increase from 7th the previous year. Within the GTHA, York Region ranked 2nd for the value of ICI construction behind Toronto, an increase from 3rd in 2016.

York Region continues to be one of Canada’s fastest growing municipalities in terms of both population and employment. During 2017, employment in York Region grew by 3.3%, higher than Ontario’s growth rate of 1.8%. The population growth rate for the Region was 1.7% compared to 1.6% for the entire Province. The Growth Plan forecasts indicate York Region is anticipated to accommodate the largest absolute amount of population and employment growth in all of Ontario between 2016 and 2041.

2017 total estimated value of construction of $3.98 billion is the second highest value on record for York Region

The total estimated value of construction in 2017 was approximately $3.98 billion, compared to $4.76 billion recorded in 2016, a decrease of 16.3%, but still the second highest value on record for the Region (Figure 11). Total construction value, including residential and non-residential values, is important as it is correlated with the new development component of tax assessment growth over subsequent years.

York Region Construction Value by Type 2008 - 2017

As noted above, York Region continues to experience job growth. According to a recent Cushman & Wakefield MarketBeat report, Ontario remains on track to be a growth leader in 2018, although rising interest rates, new home mortgage rules, and NAFTA uncertainty are likely to temper momentum. However, the U.S. economy is expected to remain strong, therefore the GTHA's industrial markets are expected to experience strong demand from the U.S. for goods and services, translating to further economic growth in 2018.

5. Financial Considerations

Development Charges (DCs) are a major source of funding for the Region's Capital Plan.

Growth and Development Review 2017

Regional DCs are collected when a plan of subdivision is registered and when a building permit is issued. The total Regional DCs collected in 2017 was $376.7 million compared to $338.5 million in 2016 (Figure 12).

Figure 12
York Region Development Charges Collected 2008 - 2017

The economic indicators presented in this report will assist Council to effectively monitor, evaluate and respond to variations in the Region's economic landscape.

6. Local Municipal Impact

Regional economic indicators are important for evaluating economic trends across the Region. The Growth and Development Review 2017 report provides local municipal economic development and planning officials with a summary of York Region's economy. The information is used as a basis for informing decision making, devising strategies, and attracting new businesses to the Region.

7. Conclusion

In 2017, York Region continued to demonstrate growth in population, employment, construction value and the housing market. York Region continues to exhibit growth in these key areas. The continued strength of the U.S. economy in 2018 should bode well for York Region businesses.

Growth and Development Review 2017

York Region continues to be a significant contributor to the provincial and national economies, ranking within the top ten municipalities in relation to:

- The Region's contribution to Canada's population
- Number of residential building permits issued
- Value of new industrial, commercial and institutional construction
- Value of total construction (ICI and residential combined)

The Growth and Development Review 2017 report monitors and reports on key performance measures and highlights York Region as a destination to live, work and play.

It is proposed that the attached Growth and Development Review 2017 report be posted on the Region's website for use by municipalities and agencies, local chambers of commerce and board of trade and the public.

The U.S. federal reserve raised short term interest rates in 2017 to 1.5 per cent. Rates are anticipated to remain low compared to historical levels.

The Bank of Canada raised interest rates to 1.25 per cent in 2017 and a further rate increase is anticipated by year-end 2018.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

GLOBAL and UNITED STATES GDP FORECAST to GROW in 2018

- Global economic activity is projected to rise from 3.7 per cent in 2017 to 3.9 per cent for both 2018 and 2019
- The U.S. economy is expected to grow to 2.7 per cent and 2.5 per cent for 2018 and 2019, up from 2.3 per cent in 2017
- Canada's growth output is expected to decrease from 3.0 per cent in 2017 to 2.3 per cent in 2018 and 2.0 per cent in 2019 due to concerns regarding NAFTA negotiations and U.S. protectionism, eroding competitiveness given U.S. tax cuts, softening housing markets and higher interest rates.

ONTARIO'S ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Ontario's economy increased by 2.7 per cent in 2017. GDP growth is poised to slow to around 2 per cent in 2018 and 2019.

ECONOMIC ACTIVITY in ONTARIO, the TORONTO CMA and YORK REGION

- The provincial unemployment rate has been decreasing steadily since 2013, from 6.9 per cent down to 5.6 per cent in 2017
- The unemployment rate in the Toronto Census Metropolitan Area (CMA) has also been decreasing since 2013, from 7.9 per cent to 5.8 per cent in 2017
- York Region's unemployment rate was 5.4 per cent at year-end 2017, lower than both the Toronto CMA and Ontario rates

TOTAL ONTARIO EMPLOYMENT

In 2017, Statistics Canada recorded Ontario employment growth of 1.8 per cent (130 000 jobs) compared to 1.2 per cent in 2016 to reach a total of 7,172,900

ACTIVITY RATE

The activity rate compares total employment to total population. One of York Region's Official Plan (ROP) objectives is to create high quality employment opportunities for residents with a goal of one job for every two residents.

An activity rate of 50 per cent is consistent with the ROP target.

York Region's activity rate has been increasing since 2010, as shown in Figure 1.6, and is currently 51.9 per cent.

POPULATION GROWTH

2016 CENSUS POPULATION for YORK REGION

This figure is not adjusted for the undercount, where approximately 3 per cent to 4 per cent of the population is missed.

Preliminary analysis indicates the Census population figure is lower than York Region's midyear 2016 population estimate (unadjusted for the undercount). An undercount study and revised population figure will be provided by Statistics Canada in 2018, after which time York Region will recalibrate the population figures.

YORK REGION'S POPULATION CONTINUES to RISE with 1.7 PER CENT GROWTH in 2017

- The Region's population increased by approximately 19,600 persons in 2017 to a total population of 1,206,500
- The 2017 annual growth rate decreased slightly from 1.8 per cent in 2016 to 1.7 per cent (Figure 2.1)

POPULATION GROWTH

ONTARIO MIGRATION PLAYS a LARGE PART in GTHA POPULATION GROWTH

- Ontario attracts the highest share of immigrants annually compared to any other province, typically in the 50 per cent to 55 per cent range
- Ministry of Finance forecasts to 2041 indicate the GTHA, Simcoe County and Ottawa region are projected to experience significant population growth of over 35 per cent, while other areas of the province are forecast to either remain stable or record a decline in population

- Population growth in the 905 area between 2011 and 2016 has been slower than the Growth Plan forecast by approximately 10 per cent
- Toronto captured a higher than expected share of population growth between 2011 and 2016 (36 per cent) when compared to the Provincial Growth Plan forecasts (27 per cent)

YORK REGION'S CONTRIBUTION to GTHA GROWTH is SIGNIFICANT

- By the end of 2017, the GTHA population was estimated at 7.47 million people, an increase of approximately 132,000 or 1.8 per cent from 2016
- In 2017 York Region's share of the GTHA's population growth was 14.8 per cent

ALL YORK REGION municipalities experienced population growth. The top three municipalities by per cent change between 2016 and 2017 are:

- East Gwillimbury at 6.7 per cent
- Aurora at 5.7 per cent
- King at 3.9 per cent

YORK REGION

is part of the broader Greater Toronto and Hamilton Area (GTHA) Region encompassing over 7.4 million people

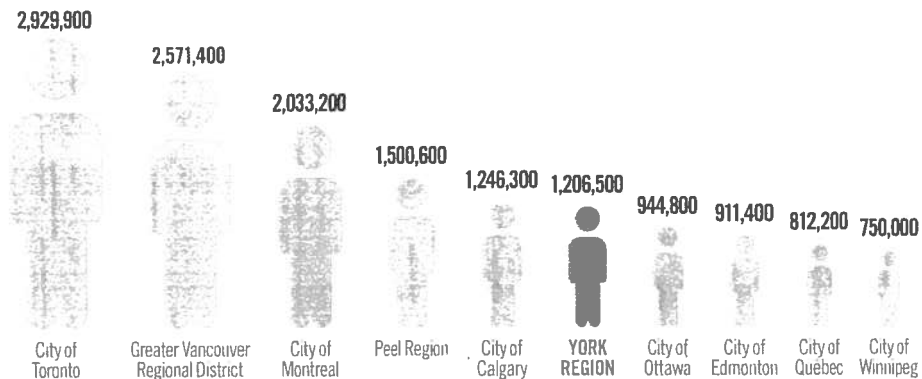

An expanding transportation network, high quality of life, vibrant diversified economy and availability of serviced land all contribute to York Region being a major growth area in the GTHA

YORK REGION is ONE of the LARGEST MUNICIPALITIES in CANADA

- As of December 2017, York Region was the sixth largest municipality in Canada in population (Figure 2.6)

POPULATION GROWTH

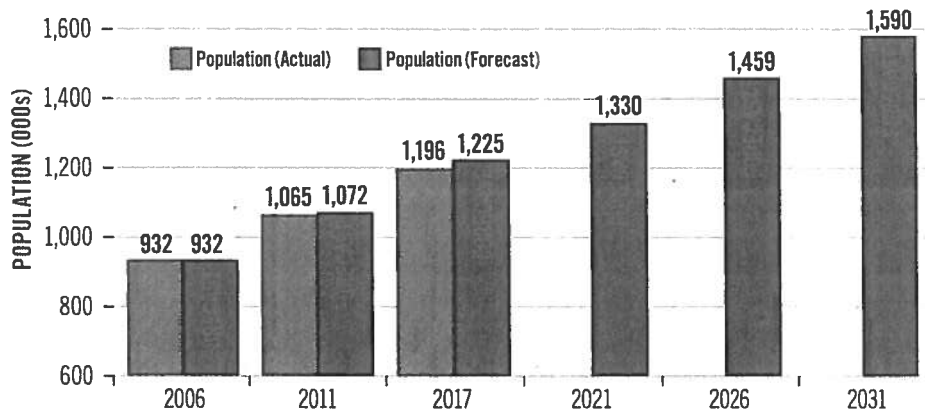

POPULATION and EMPLOYMENT FORECASTS

- York Region’s mid year 2017 population was estimated to be 1,196,700, which is 2.3 per cent (28,500) lower than the Growth Plan forecast of 1,225,200
- Annual growth of 27,700 is required to reach the 2031 Growth Plan forecast of 1,590,000

POPULATION and EMPLOYMENT FORECASTS

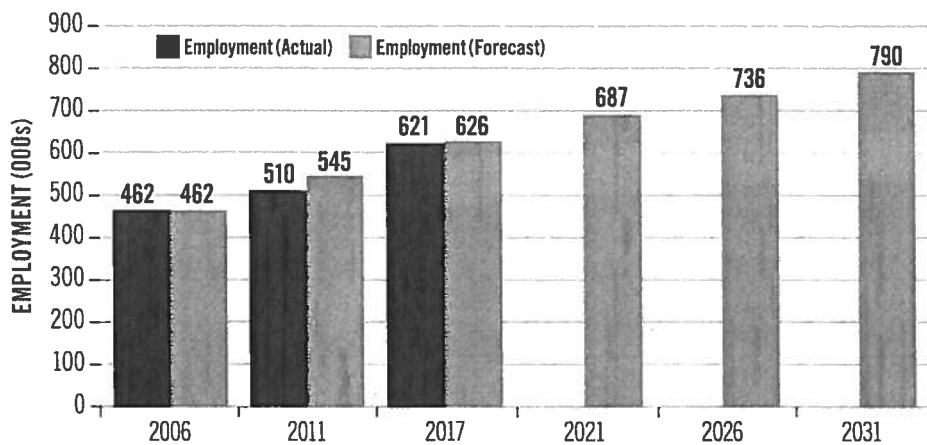

Population and employment growth forecasts form the basis for determining urban land needs, infrastructure and service planning, financial planning, and determining development charges.

- In 2017, York Region’s employment was approximately 620,500 compared to the 2017 Growth Plan forecast of 626,200, a 5,700 difference
- Annual employment growth of 12,000 is required to meet the 2031 Growth Plan employment forecast. The Region has been growing by approximately 18,000 jobs per year during the past 5 years

- New prices for single-detached homes range from $829,000 in the Town of Georgina to $7.3 million in the Town of Aurora

TOTAL SALES in the Greater Toronto Area's (GTA) residential resale market decreased by 22.4 per cent in 2017 (92,394) compared to 113,133 in 2016

Average resale price (all dwelling types) in the GTA was $822,681, an increase of 11.3 per cent in comparison to the average of $729,922 in 2016

2018 SALES FIGURES

The first two months of 2018 have seen a slower start to sales and price growth in York Region with the overall average price dropping to $885,864 and 1,398 sales were recorded to February 2018 compared to 2,523 sales by February 2017.

RESIDENTIAL MARKET and BUILDING ACTIVITY

RESIDENTIAL BUILDING PERMITS are DOWN 43 PER CENT from 2016

- A total of 6,048 new residential building permits were issued in York Region in 2017, representing a 43 per cent decrease from the 2016 permit total of 10,597
- All unit types experienced a decline from 2016 levels, however apartment units decreased significantly, from 3,292 in 2016 to 859 in 2017
- There are more fluctuations in the apartment market from year to year compared to the ground related market, which impacts the total number of building permits issued annually

Building permit activity is an essential yardstick used to measure local investments and economic performance

Source: Statistics Canada Building Permit Reports, 2017; York Region Corporate Services, Long Range Planning Division, 2017

- York Region’s intensification share within the built up area has ranged from 31 per cent to 61 per cent over the last 11 years, and was 42 per cent in 2017
- The continuing development of the Region’s Centres and Corridors and other intensification areas will contribute to achieving the minimum 40 per cent intensification target in the Regional Official Plan

THE TOTAL HOUSING SUPPLY CONTINUES to DIVERSIFY

- While the Region's new housing stock becomes increasingly diversified over time, the existing housing stock is composed primarily of ground related dwellings
- The proportion of apartment unit dwellings in the Region's housing stock increased from 12 per cent in 2001 to 14 per cent in 2017
- The proportion of apartment unit dwellings is forecasted to be 19 per cent by 2031

A more diversified housing stock provides more choice in the market for both existing and future residents

Diversified housing is important for:

- providing affordable options
- housing residents at different stages in their lives
- reaching the Region's intensification targets
- creating more compact, transit supportive development

- The overall housing stock in 2017 was composed of 68 per cent single detached dwellings, 6 per cent semi-detached units, 12 per cent row house units and 14 per cent apartment units

INDUSTRIAL, COMMERCIAL and INSTITUTIONAL MARKET and BUILDING ACTIVITIES

INDUSTRIAL and COMMERCIAL PROPERTY MARKET

- A low Canadian dollar value relative to the U.S. dollar, continuing low interest rates and a strong demand from the U.S economy should help businesses in Ontario to continue to grow
- Industrial development was most active in Vaughan in 2017 with 2,787,000 square feet of new supply under construction

INSTITUTIONAL, COMMERCIAL and INDUSTRIAL BUILDING ACTIVITY in YORK REGION INCREASED in 2017 to the HIGHEST LEVEL EVER RECORDED

- Total ICI construction in 2017 had a combined construction value of $1.44 billion, an increase from the 2016 value of $976 million (Figure 4.1)
- The Region's ICI market increased for 2017 when compared to the 2016 values and the five year average, primarily due to the Mackenzie Vaughan Hospital construction value of $585 million
- Institutional and industrial construction values increased from 2016 levels by 407 per cent and 43 per cent respectively, while commercial values decreased by 31 per cent
